

Professional 837 Enumeration and Contractual Chart

UniCare implemented a contingency period for the National Provider Identifier (NPI) on May 23, 2007, that will continue through May 23, 2008.

During UniCare's contingency period, we are analyzing claims trends in our ongoing efforts to help ensure a smooth NPI transition. To that end, we developed the following chart to assist our professional providers, since professional providers have several contractual options when they contract with UniCare. Strictly a reference tool, the chart is a guide for entering Type 1 and Type 2 NPI information appropriately on the electronic 837 for the three scenarios outlined below. Please note that the chart only applies to providers submitting NPI numbers. The chart is for reference tool only and does NOT replace the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) X12N 837 professional implementation guides, companion documents or trading partner agreements.

Legacy Identifiers (highlighted below in red) are optional during the contingency period and MUST be removed after May 23, 2008, except for providers who are not eligible for an NPI. NPI-only electronic claim submissions will be required beginning May 24, 2008. Electronic claims submitted with legacy identifiers will be rejected effective May 24, 2008. (Identifiers that will not be accepted effective May 24, 2008 include: 0B, 1A, 1B, 1C, 1D, 1G, 1H, G2, LU, N5, X5).
